Memorandum to the Commissioners I submit herewith correspondence which resulted from my action on october 17, in requesting, through his commanding officer, a statement from Private R. J. Allen as to whether from Private R. J. Allen as to whether or not he was correctly quoted in an article appearing in the edition of The Washington Post, dated October 17, 1929, to the effect that he, Private Allen, intended to investigate the action of the United States district attorney's office in the handling of two indictments which had been found against William Lee Moffatt.

You will recall that I stated to the Board of District Commissioners that in my opinion there was no useful service which Private Allen could perform in the department, anticipating at the fine of that statement, some such rene of that statement, some such re-its as those which have followed.

Fears for Force's Morale. It is also apparent that Capt. Robet E. The situation developed herein has a natural tendency to the further destruction of the morale of the department, and I suggest that it is es ential in the interest of discipline that the commissioners suspend both Capt. Robert E. Doyle and Private R. J. Allen, pending trial of charges re-

Miss Williams outlined the history of the Capper-Robinson bill, which has for its purpose the creation of a Federal department of education with a secretary in the President's Cabinet. Dr. Norton averred that research is necessary to progress and it should be applied to the education of children.

"Granting that research is desirable," he said, "and that more is necessary, the question arises how this research be continued?"

He admitted that private agencies are making important contributions, but he questioned the wisdom of leaving the control of such research in the hands of private agencies. He mentioned the belief of those who have made a study of the subject, that it is more desirable to have a program of educational progress under public auspices.

It reflected not only the clarity of mind with which the senator has endowed public issues for a generation, but also the broad humanity of his spirit, that dwelt with especial concern upon the problems of equity involved and upon the welfare of the whole body of men and women of the country for whose benefit the program was primarily undertaken.

He and his as-sociates deserve high remembrance in the records of this achievement. But the whole Ohio Valley and the Nation as well should be congratu-lated upon this occasion. A new Nation as well should be congratulated upon this occasion. A new agency of service now begins its quiet labors for mankind. The tow path that led one Ohio boy to the White House has been modernized. But opportunity has been expanded by the abandonment of the tow path for the engine. It is the glory of our scientific age that its sooty processes in the end bring results that make childthood stronger and happier, and give to manhood and wqmanhood a life richer and more varied.

the people of a great accomplishment.

"This new instrument of commerce," the President added, "from which untold blessings will come year after year, is an enduring monument to those patient men of my own profession, whose lives are spent in devising means to increase the comfort and convenience of the world."

Mr. Hoover paid special tribute to Senator Burton, of Ohio, and Speaker Longworth for their services in projection of inland waterways.

"The engineers found the practical means," the President said, "but many others contributed to the vision, courage and persistence needful to this accomplishment. Statesmen, rivermen and business men may share the and business men may share the

At the conclusion of his speech the flag covering the marble sieft rising near the President, was drawn aside

Hoover then motored to the Longworth home in Rockwood Park for luncheon and later appeared for a short time at a luncheon given in the Gibson Hotel by the Ohio Valley Improvement Association.

A veritable carnival spirit enveloped the Cincinnati wharf as the President boarded the Greenbriar in spite of the rain and cold. Dozens of pleasure launches gaily decked in fings and bunting dashed in front and around the larger boats of the presidential party. Whistles, sirens, fog horns and noise-makers filled the misty air with screechings that reverberated down the valley.

Hundreds of people were stationed on the wharf, leaning out of factory building windows and over the railing of the river spans and waved farewell as the President's boat swung around and headed down the stream.

From within the comfortable heated lounge of the Greenbrier, the President watched the panorama of autumn beauty slowly unfold itself. Presently the first lock between Clincinnat and Loulsville was reached at Fernbank. Here the President scanned this engineering job with the eye of experience. It was to give the river works first hand inspection that Mr. Hoover decided to make the trip by boat.

FALL COUNSEL HITS PROSECUTION VIEWS

Hogan Spends Entire Session Lashing Government's Handling of Case.

END OF TRIAL IS NEAR

Counsel for Albert B. Fall, charged with accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny for the Elk Hills oil lease spent four hours yesterday attacking the Government's case and presenting a favorable view of Fall's trans actions to the jury.
Frank J. Hogan, chief defense counsel, occupied the entire court day, challenging the documents iniced by the Government and criticizing counsel for its presenta-tion of the prosecution. He had and a half hours and the additional time made it improbable that the case would go to the jury before late this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

Before court recessed for the day Justice William Hitz announced that the defense would have an hour tothe defense would have an hour today to conclude. In this time Hogan must finish and Mark B. Thompson and Wilton J. Lambert must make the closing arguments for the defense. Owen J. Roberts, special Government counsel, expects to require at least two hours in closing the prosecution arguments.

Hogan interpreted the evidence as showing that Fall had little to do with the negotiations of the Pearl Harbor contract and Elk Hills lease
He contended the contract and its preferential clause had never been thought of at the time Fall received $4100.000 from Doheny. The Government charges the plan was conceived at the time Fall got the money.

While members indicated there is a "wet" wing to the association, which plans to take prohibition to the convention proper, the executive committee is determined that the controversy shall not get before the general meeting of the 10,000 dele-gates representing the 30,000 mem-bers of the world's greatest legal or-ganization.

Cafeteria Court Urged.

Miller recommended a cafeteria court for bootleggers on the "pay-as-you-enter" plan. He said the average liquor violations should be treated as a misdemeanor and that treated as a misdemeanor and that bootlegging should be placed in the third criminal category, for which there would be no jury trial.

He would rebuild the entire system of criminal law and apply science toward solution of the crime problem, quarantining criminals as the State quarantines victims of dangerous diseases.

He recommended to the bar asso-clation that a psychiatric service be available to every criminal and juvenile court and that no criminal be sentenced for any felony in which the judge has any discretion as to the sentence until a psychiatric report is filed.

Psychiatric Service Asked.

Dean Miller also recommended a sychiatric service at every penal in-

The fight on educational requirements for lawyers kept the section of legal education in an uproar. President's Authority Over Congress Defied

The contention that the President rould have no authority to forbid Congress to continue work on a tariff bill in the regular session of Congress was made yesterday by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the minority leader, in a statement given out by

"Normally it would appear that if the Senate fails to finish the measure this session it would be the con-tinuing business of the Senate when it reconvenes. A majority of the Senate having the subject under con-sideration, it is difficult to see how the President could order it to let go."

"A paradox in political science" has been produced by "the attempt of the Democratic leaders to supertmasse bossism upon a democracy."

Jennings 'C. Wise said in a speech prepared for delivery tonight at Highland Park School on behalf of the coalition candidates for State offices.

"Bosses and Jeffersonian Democracy can be mixed no more than oil and water," declared Col. Wise.

Four Offices at One Time.

It was also humorous when the six Democratic districts voted against the governor's program and the Loyalty League!"

Declaring that "As I view the situation, it is not lacking in humor, and I think we are all taking it too seriously." he asserted, "the comedy did not any with the residential.

"Who ever heard before of a governor of Virginia defending his own administration on the stump while dictating the policies of his successor? Is it the governor or the Democratic national committee and former State chairman who is speaking? "At any rate, the people were honored, and concluded that if the 'program of progress' continued at the present rate they would soon be relieved of the inconvenience of elections.

"But the crowning humor of all is, a century and a half after George Mason, a Virginian, drafted the bill of rights. Thomas Jefferson, a Virginian, penned the Declaration of Independence: James Madison, a Virginian, framed the Constitution of the United States: George Washington, a Virginian, created the Peublic, and John Marshall, a Virginian, construed after which a social meeting was held a John Marshall, a Virginian, construed its laws, it was found the Democratic party had gotten the government of Virginia in such a snarl a Democratic governor had to employ the New York Eureau of Municipal Research to tell them how to govern Virginia! In other words, after 60 years of uninterrupted opportunity to learn something about government, the Democratic party of Virginia had to call on strangers for aid.

"Yet they boast of their achievements! In my opinion the cost of the survey of 1924 ought to be charged against the campaign fund of the Democratic party.

"As for this cheap propaganda against the Republican party as a menace to Yirginia, what are the facts?

Democratic Defeat is Predicted.

Democratic Defeat Is Predicted.

"Although the President declined to recognize his own party in the South until it had cleaned house, we heard nothing of the kind from the Democratic leaders. On September 7 the Democratic campaign committee of Philadelphia announced 'Al' Smith would run for the Presidency again. the national Republican party for the first time in its history, while a wet Northern former Republican still heads the Democratic party, the President and his party are giving their moral support to the candidacy of a Democrat for Governor of Virginia because they know the restoration of Democratic government in the Old Dominion is more important than the Republican party. And while the Republicans are trying to silence the religious and race issues the Democrata are stirring up both of them.

"Verly, it is to laugh! Let the people of Virginia laugh and the world will laugh with us—at the Democratic bosses after November 5"

BRIAND FALLS.

The sudden downfall of the Briand cabinet is the first overt French reaction against the new British policy as developed by Philip Snowden at The Hague and by Mr. MacDonald in visiting the United States. The French people and Parliament have been smarting under a deep sense of resentment against the recent British tendency to throw France overboard while cultivating special friendship with the United States. Indiscreet celebration in London of Snowden's "victory" over the French in the allotment of reparations, followed by equally indiscreet declarations in England that Mr. MacDonald had consummated a virtual alliance with the United States, have been followed by the inevitable repercussion in Paris. The Chamber of Deputies demanded an explanation by Premier Briand of the dealings with Mr. Snowden, and when M. Briand insisted upon making the postponement of interpellations a question of confidence in the government, he was beaten, and immediately re-

The fate of the proposed naval conference in London is involved in the French developments. Many Frenchmen strongly disapproved of the French reply to the British government's invitation to that conference. Shrewdly as it was worded, it omitted a statement of France's fixed determination to resist any attempt to cripple the French submarine program. The British note conveyed the impression that the United States Government had reached an agreement with Britain to press for the abolition of the submarine altogether. Premier Briand's reply ignored this threat, and merely intimated that the French position would be made clear in preliminary conversations preceding the conference.

Premier Briand's regime has been overturned by only a few votes, and on the surface it would appear he might organize a new cabinet and carry on. But the feeling in France is so strongly resentful of British policy as developed by the MacDonald government that another more nationalistic leader may be called to take the helm. Andre Tardieu is said to be in a favorable position for consideration as the next premier. Although he has been a member of the Briand cabinet, he is much more aggressive in his stand upon foreign questions, and a complete change in the situation might result from his command of affairs.

The Labor government of Great Britain has made a melancholy wreck of the entente with France, and it is yet to demonstrate that it has gained more than an offsetting advantage by drawing the United States to its side. Americans are not opposed to friendship with Great Britain, but they will not base it upon opposition to France or any other nation; and in this country there is a rapidly growing desire to know just how far the administration proposes to go in concert with the British government, especially if an Anglo-American program should be resisted by other governments.

The intrigues of transatlantic politics have no charms for Americans. They will not become involved in them willingly. They resent every effort by a foreign government to line the United States upon one side or the other of a foreign quarrel. They have no desire to promote the welfare of any foreign political party, or to be used as instruents in European rivalries. If French feeling against Great Britain has been accentuated by the supposition that Mr. Donald has consummated a specially close entente with the United States, if this sentiment in France should wreck Mr. MacDonald's naval confer- United States obviously agreed that it was when fresh from the orchestra.

ence, the blame will fall, or ought to has gone out of its way to offend and humiliate France.

POLICE DISCIPLINE.

Maj. Pratt, superintendent of police, has suspended Police Capt. Robert E. Doyle and Private Robert J. Allen from duty pending trial on charges of insubordination.

Maj. Pratt insists that the discipline of the Police Department must be maintained. He is right, and should be fully sustained by the Commissioners in his efforts to restore the morale of his force.

The demoralization of the Police Depart ment is not chargeable against its immediate head. Maj. Pratt is a capable and experienced officer who has the confidence of the community. There has been too much interference with his authority over his men. The vaciliation shown in dealing with a bumptious young private is not the fault of Maj. Pratt. A captain caught the fever of insubordination and wrote a letter to his superior in a spirit that would not be toleated by any executive in any business.

The special committee of the Senate which is investigating the Police Department as a good opportunity to go to the roots of the existing situation. The public order and safety are placed in jeopardy whenever police discipline is destroyed. The District Commissioners-all of them, and not merely Commissioner Dougherty-are responsible to Congress for the conduct of the Police Department. It is the obvious duty of the Senate committee without delay to call the Com missioners before it, and bring to light the reasons why one blunder after another has brought the Police Department to its present

LEARNING TO FLY

Manufacturers of aircraft are much concerned over the present slump into which the industry has fallen. They have greatly over estimated the demands of the public for air transportation. A general belief that there is a great future for aircraft has led many companies into competition for the expected profits. There are approximately 240 corporations or individuals building planes in the United States, in spite of the fact that the market for them is as yet very limited. During the first six months of this year more than 3,000 airplanes were built and less than 1.000 sold.

This crowding of many interests into new industry is given as the cause for the temporary slump. But there is another reason which comes closer to the consuming public. The demand for aircraft has not been what it was expected to be, because few people have found it practical or safe to fly their own planes. This does not mean that excellent progress has not been made in perfecting the airplane. The aeronautical branch of the Department of Commerce reports that the structure of planes has been so much improved that accidents due to faulty mechanism are practically negligible. What is keeping the airplane from equal popularity with the automobile?

One answer seems to be that it is difficult to learn to fly. The public has found that much time and money are required to make an efficient pilot. Not many hours in the air are necessary for a person of average intelligence to learn the movements incidental to piloting, but to become skilled enough to handle a plane with safety in an emergency is quite a different matter. The aeronautical division has found that approximately 50 per cent of all crashes are caused by poor technique on the part of the pilot. In many cases this is due to insufficient or misguided

THE SEARCH WARRANT STANDS.

There need be no confusion in the public mind over the fact that the Supreme Court has declined to review the case of a petitioner who was convicted of violating the State prohibition law of Iowa on evidence procured illegally from his dwelling without a search warrant. The attorney general of the State admits that the conviction was procured on the theory that the evidence was admissible, "even though wrongfully seized and without the authority of a search war rant.'

The refusal of the Supreme Court to review the case is based on the ground that no constitutional question is involved. The Iowa decision does not constitute any change in prohibition enforcement methods, even in that particular State. Prohibition Commissioner Doran has hastened to warn administrators and agents that the search of a private dwelling by Government agents without a warrant is prohibited by Federal law.

The Iowa case involved a World War veteran who resided in an apartment used as a private dwelling by himself, his wife and child, and his wife's mother. In June, 1927, the chief of police and a police officer entered his dwelling during his absence without a warrant, and found three half-pint bottles of intoxicating liquor, including one bottle which had been prescribed by a physician.

This illegally obtained evidence was admitted at the defendant's trial, and he was convicted and sentenced to six months in jail and to pay a fine of $1,000 and costs. The supreme court of the State affirmed the judgment. After denial of a rehearing the defendant petitioned the Supreme Court of the United States for a writ of certiorari on the ground that his constitutional rights had been invaded. Resisting this appeal, the attorney general of the State contended that the fourth amendnent to the Constitution protecting the rights of the people against search and seizure, as well as the fifth amendment, are limitations upon the powers of the Federal Government and not upon those of the States, and that the State of Iowa applied its own bill of rights to this case. The Iowa bill of rights contains a provision identical with the fourth amendment, but it is interpreted differently, lowa claimed that this is a matter of State law interpreted by the highest court in the State, and that there is nothing for the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon. Thirty other States permit the use of illegally procured evidence in accordance with their constitutions, the attorney general of Iowa maintains. In ignoring the petitioner's appeal, the Supreme Court of the > Illegally procured evidence is admissible in Federal cases, according to the rulings of the Supreme Court, provided the Federal agents have no part in procuring it. Evidence obtained illegally by State officers is admissible in Federal cases, and even evidence procured by theft has been admissible since the Supreme Court decided the case of Burdeau vs. MacDowall in 1921. In that case the petitioner's office was invaded, the locks of his private desk forced and his private safes blown open by representatives of the company that employed him. The stolen evidence was turned over to the Federal authorities and was admitted at his trial.

> All this appears harsh and unjust, but in reality a simple remedy is open to the victim. He can at once procure through legal process the return of evidence illegally taken from him, and thereby prevent its being used against him. Statutes of the United States provide for a fine of $1,000 and a year's im prisonment for any officer who searches a private dwelling without a warrant. But if the victim of an illegal search remains idle until illegally procured evidence is produced at his trial he may find himself with no remedy, because the court may not stop in the midst of the case to inquire into a collateral issue. The procedure followed in Iowa is not altogether out of harmony with the Federal cases excepting that State officers there procured the evidence illegally. The Iowa defendant made no demand for the return of the illegally procured liquor.

PEDESTRIAN PATHS.

The American Society for Municipal Improvements, which met in Philadelphia lastweek, made a constructive suggestion for reduction of traffic casualties in suburban and rural districts. The society simply asks that in the future highway departments give attention to the needs of pedestrians as well as motorists, and construct more sidewalks. Thousands of needless tragedles occur on the open highways of the country every year because foot passengers have no place to walk except in the path of speeding auto-

In congested city areas where streams of foot traffic are constantly crossing busy streets some accidents seem inevitable. But in rural areas casualties to pedestrians could be almost eliminated if provision were made to keep them off the highways. The importance of the society's suggestion is enhanced by realization that 65 per cent of all automobile accident victims are pedestrians. The number of deaths and injuries of this kind is needlessly high in most rural and suburban areas. The day is coming when it will be considered neither practical nor just for a community to spend thousands of dollars on paved highways and make no provision for pedestrians to move upon a safe path exclusively devoted to them.

Not a single member of the Farm Board was lynched, after all.

FRESH MUSIC AND CANNED

From the New York Times.

Philadelphia theaters are once more open The musicians who were striking and threatening to close theaters in half a dozen other citles with the aid of the stage hands' union have won an increase in salary and are back at work. But they and the rest of the menbership of 140,000 claimed by the American Federation of Musicians are still troubled by the encroachment of mechanical music in theaters and moving-picture houses. They ave unheld their contention, or a substan tial part of it. They have not touched the center of their real trouble.

The talkies, bringing with them their own synchronized music, are at the bottom of the various musicians' strikes. It has been reported that 5,000 musicians are out of work because of the popularity of pictures with sound accompaniment. A campaign fund of considerable size has been raised to present to the public through a series of newspaper advertisements the superior value of an orchestra of visible, flesh-and-blood musicians over the canned music that comes with the sound film. It would be futile to protes against the continued offering of talkies, and the musicians are not planning any such folly. But they realize that mechanical substitutes for an orchestra are easily available to managers, and they want to get the public behind them in a demand for first-hand music. The union has the whip hand where revues and musical comedies are staged. But instead of using its power, except in sudden crises, it hopes to educate the public to call for a genuine orchestra. Many share with the musicians a feeling of dislike for any kind of entertainment which is merely a reproduction of an original performance. They are probably more articulate than the great mass that can afford the substitute and is glad to get it. It is hard to believe that movies, talkies and canned music will ever take the place of the theater, the concert and the opera. The ideas of some playwrights, libretists and composers would lose most of their effect unless transmitted to an audience by living performers. They are more subtle, though not necessarily more important, than the ideas which may be perfectly translated through mechanical reproduction. The audience for this kind of entertainment may not be increasing, but it surely does not grow less. It is even reasonable to suppose that the more discerning audience should be enlarged as some of the higher grade dramas are given wider circufation through mechanical reproduction. The recording of Beethoven's symphonies by the phonograph did not drive people away from the concert halls While sound pictures are still new, the musicians may be temporarily distressed, but wider distribution of music should not in the end militate against its sustained popularity

There is one little fact about Mr. facDonald's excursion that I have never seen mentioned, although it is pivotal. The British Labor party, which he represents, is a minority party. It is trying to govern without the least mandate to govern. At the last election a large majority of the English voters voted against intrusting it with the government. In any really democratic country such a situation as is now presented in England would be impossible. Conronted by this anomalous condition, and an adverse majority in the House of Commons that may at any time hrow it out of office, the Labor party is driven to desperate expedients to strengthen its poor position. The reversionary tactics of Snowden at The Hague was one of those expedients, and the MacDonald visit is Ever since the battles of Cantigny, Selleau Woods and Chateau Thierry. the idea of getting the United States into an entente with the British Empire has been enormously popular in England. Yacht Is Home After Cruise In South Seas

Cornelius Crane's Craft Drops Anchor in Gloucester.

By JEAN ELIOT.

ASHED by the waves of the Seven Seas, with pennants fluttering from bow to stern, the Illyria, brigantine yacht owned by Mr. Cornelius Crane, of Chicago, slid into Gloucester, Mass. harbor Monday to drop anchor after an eleven-month cruise through the South Seas in search of specimens for the Field Museum of Natural History in Chi-

It is in the romantic regions of the South Seas that Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, of Washington-and Pennsylvania-are now cruising aboard the Cuddysark a three-masted schooner reminiscent of the days when sailing vessels cruised the Seven Seas They, too, are in search of rare mens of flora and fauna, and especially of strange denizens of the ocean, some of which are to go to the Smithsonian Institution and others to various university museums. And it was for the Field Museum that Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his brother, Mr. Kermit Roosevelt, undertook their journey of exploration, with a sideline of collecting, into the wilds of Indo-China, completed a few months ago.

Verily, it would seem that our museums would be filled to overflowing, for the Illyria alone brought back more than 1,500 specimens of birds, 1,000 mammals, 2,000 reptiles and amphibians, and perhaps 10,000 specimens of fish-most of which were sent to Chicago from South American ports.

were sent to Chicago from South American ports.

Cornellus Crane, who was skipper of the Illyria on the 36,000-mile journey, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane, of Chicago, a nephew of Mr. Charles R. Crane, erstwhile United States Minister to China, and a cousin of the Richard T. Crane, once Minister to Czechoslovakia, who lived for a time in Washington, and who now makes his home at Westover, one of the historic plantations on the James River.

The young skipper—he is just 24—did not bring his vessel into port, for he had interrupted his cruise to be married a fortnight before to a Chicago girl, the wedding taking place in New England, and is now on a honeymoon trip to Europe He expects to find the Illyria at anchor off Hamilton, Bermuda, upon his return to the Western Hemisphere, planning to pass the winter at his estate near Hamilton.

Mr. Crane's parents met the boat at Gloucester, with their daughter, Miss Florence Crane. Wives, friends and sweethearts of the Illyria's crew of eighteen men crowded the docks as the yacht dropped anchor in the inner harbor and her skipper, Capt. S. D. Boutillier, put off for shore.

These Cranes have been much in the news of late, what with their marriages and their adventurous expeditions. Mr. John O. Crane, son of Mr. Charles R. Crane, was married only a few days ago in Rome to Teresa, daughter of Count and Countess Alessandro Born, whose mother is of the princely Ruspoli family. He, too, has but recently completed an adventurous gionney, accompanying his father is at winter on a trip to Irak, in the course of which they were attacked by Wahibi tribesmen, one of their party, a missionary, being killed.

Personality in the Boudoir

The modern boudoir becomes a personality room-in fact, today smart women are being judged by their boudoirs. These "personality rooms" use color as a medium of expression—femininity is revealed in lovely rainbow colorings-dignity is very often seen in period interiors that reproduce old prints - modernism dares to use the brighter, more daring color combinations. ROOSEVELT HOTEL TO HAVE RECEIVER

Justice Wheat Undecided as to Whether One or More Should Be Named.

ARGUMENTS ARE HEARD

Justice Alfred A. Wheat in District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday decided to appoint a receiver to Hotel Operating Co., which operates osevelt Hotel at Fifteenth and streets northwest. The justice thheld the appointment, and renore receivers should be named.

Justice Wheat's decision to place the company in receivership followed argument on two petitions. One petition filed by Attorneys Michael M. Dovle and F. A. Thuee on behalf of Doyle and F. A. Thuee on behalf of Floyd E. Moore and Lillian Moore, stockholders, and Marie E. Maguire, a creditor, requested that a receiver be named to take over the hostelry's contents. The other, filed by Attorneys Douglas, Obear & Douglas, J. V. Morgan and Daniel Thew Wright on behalf of the Wardman Realty & Construction Co., holder of a third deed of trust on the realty, personal property and equipment of the hotel, requested that a receiver be named to take over the real estate and other property.

The attorneys for the Wardman Co. told the court that there is a first trust of $900,000 on the property on which interest of $25,000 is overdue; a second trust of $783,000 on which $22,500 interest is overdue, and the Wardman third trust for $254,000. Taxes also are overdue, the attorneys said.

Attorneys C. A. Eby and W. C. Balderson on behalf of the hotel operating company expressed willingness to have a receiver appointed for the equipment, but declared the real estate was ample to secure the three deeds of trust. They also pointed out that the personal assets of the hotel total $128,000, while liabilities amount to only $55,586.96.

A LOVELY JOUEY

MY despair was so great I could have cried. The good cheer and merry happiness of others only mocked at my condition. I had begun to wonder why life could be so cruel. No appetite. No strength. Skin blemishes always embarrassed me. Aches and pains coursed through my body. I wanted to restore my health and live. What was I to do? . . . happily the day came and I found the right road to Health when a friend recommended S.S.S."

You may be one of the thousands with a low blood count-to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious ailments.

Did you know that every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles? They are the tiny red particles which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to the cells of the body. Rich, red blood wards off disease. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

Brother-in-Law of Illinois Representative Pleads Guilty in Rum Case.

TOOK BLAME AT TRIAL

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 22 (A.P.).—Walter Gramm. Chicago coal dealer and brother-in-law of Representative M. Alfred Michaelson, of Illinois, was fined $1,000 and costs in Federal Court hefe today when he pleaded guilty to bringing into the United States twelve bottles of liquor under courtesy of the port at Key West extended to the lawmaker.

Gramm made a surprise appearance in court-before-Federal Judge Alexander Akerman today and entered a plea of guilty to a charge similar to that upon which his brother-in-law was tried in Pederal Court at Key West last spring.

His attorney, W. M. Toomer, of Jacksonville, asked for clemency in the case, pointing out that his client was a responsible business man and that the "error was just a social one." In fining Gramm, Judge Akerman said that he had "no desire to wreck a young man's life by sending him to prison," and that he did not want to punish him "for the faults of the representative." who, the judge said, "apparently votes dry and drinks wet."

Gramm had been at liberty under $1,000 bond. He was indicted after.

Many unusual features in this complete display of FORD cars

All this week, October 21-26

THE WASHINGTON BUILDING

15th and New York Avenue, N.W.

10 A. M. TO 10 P. M.

SEVERAL weeks ago, thousands of Washington people attended the Special Showing of Ford cars. The display created so much favorable comment and was of so much general interest that a second exhibit is being held this week.

Those who missed the first showing have thus another opportunity to review the entire line of Ford passenger cars . . and those who did visit the former salon will find it worth while to come again, to see the special creations and unusual features in the present display.

The standard Ford body styles shown are eleven in number, including the Roadster, Phaeton, Business Coupe, Standard Coupe, Sport Coupe, Tudor Sedan, Two-window Fordor Sedan, Three-window Fordor Sedan, Cabriolet, Town Sedan and Town Car. All in their newest colors, and each type built to fit a particular need-in accordance with the Ford policy of supplying "economical transportation for all the people."

But there are still other features in this latest showing. For individualists, and those who look for the personal note in motor cars, we are showing several special jobs of unusual interest. A jet-black Sport Roadster, especially stripped and equipped, with the radiator shell, headlamps and hardware in bright brass plating. A Convertible Cabriolet, finished in Bronson Yellow, with belt moulding and upper in Thorn Brown, and orange wheels. A Sport Fordor Sedan with Mulberry Maroon body and Berry Red fenders and wheels. Another Roadster in a striking combination of Balsam Green and Drab. A Town Sedan in a new blending of Black and Cream, with mohair upholstery, and side and center arm rests in the rear seat.

Come any time this week-but come! Just telephone your nearest Ford dealer, and he will gladly send a car to your home or office to take you to the Washington Building. There is no charge for this service.

CAN you guess how rubber obtained its name?

What do you do when you make a mistake in writing? Most will use a "rubber" or eraser.

A little more than a century ago a Scotchman named Mackintosh learned to make cloth proof against water. This was done by placing a thin layer of rubber between two layers of cloth. A coat made from this substance was called "a Mackintosh," and the name is still used now and then—though "raincoat" and "slicker" are more common modern names.

The uses of rubber have become many. Rubbers and overshoes which protect our feet in wet weather are gifts of rubber trees and rubber plants. There are rubber heels for shoes and rubber dolls for babies. Rubber balls are used when little girls play "jacks." and much rubber is contained in the balls which people knock around the golf courses.

The most important modern place for rubber is in automobile tires. Thousands of tons of rubber are used for this purpose every year, and it is safe to say that autos would not be nearly so widely used if it were not for the rubber supply. Tires of other sorts have been invented, but hey rub-

The bidding at Auction Bridge would be: South one No Trump followed by three passes.

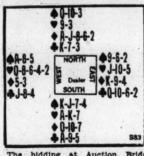

The play was in a game of Contract, with the bidding: South two No Trumps by North.

West led his fourth best Heart, which South won. Declarer then tried the Diamond finesse and had the hard luck to lose to East, who continued West's Hearts; South ducked the second round and won the third. He then led four rounds of Diamonds, which gave him a total of six tricks; then one Club, but before giving upcommand of the Clubs he led a Spade. West jumped in with his Ace and cashed his two remaining Hearts; soo my partner lost three Hearts, one Spade and one Diamond—a total of five tricks, which left him short of game.

Why was it hard to smile? Why was it hard to smile?

WORK'S BRIDGE

The Correct Play.

The Correct Play.

My partner overlooked an obvious play. He was sure of three Spades, two Hearts, four Diamonds and two Clubs; but his danger was that the enemy might save game before he established both his topades and his Diamonds. Consequently, he should have led a Spade when he won the grat heart. If he won that trick he could continue Spades or win the next trick with a Club in the closed hand and then try the Diamond finesse. Even if it lost, he would have game assured because, when he took his second Heart, he could cash four Diamonds and two Clubs, plus his one Spade and two Clubs, plus his one Spade and two Hearts already won.

If he preferred, he could lead a second Spade and, if it forced the Acc, he then could hold up his winning Heart until the third round and, after that, try the Diamond finesse, being asured—even if it lost—that the adversaries could not take more than four tricks.

My pariner's fatal error was trying the Diamond finesse before winning a Spade trick and before he had forced the Acc of Spades from the West hand.

If East held the Acc of Spades, or if West held the King of Diamonds, my partner's play would have succeeded: but when there is a way to get game with all the adverse high cards unfortunately located, it should not be overlooked.

EAR Miss McDonaid: I have just read Marie's letter crying out loud for "freedom" from a family life. To her thesiloving ministrations of her family and their solicitude for her welfare are a bore. But she doesn't know how jucky she is to have a family to love her and take an interest in her. I am just now passing through a period of exterme loneliness and mourning. For a good many years my mother was a semi-invalid and in later years she had a good many sicknesses through which I nursed her. I have had to give up many a good time because of the condition of her health, but I didn't consider that my freedom was being interfered with, 'because I loved her so much that I was willing to do anything for her. Now I am glad that I made her and her welfare my chief concern, for she passed away last summer and I am just overwhelmed with grief and lonellness. Because she was not able to goout, she was always at home to welcome me when I returned from work in the afternoon, and now as I approach the house I look in vain for a welcoming smile, and when I enter the silent house, the stillness is almost the was always at home to welcome me when I returned from work in the afternoon, and now as I approach the house I look in vain for a welcoming smile, and when I enter the silent house, the stillness is almost unbearable. AN you imagine any form of sanitary protection under present-day gowns except Kotex? Kotex.. with its absence of bulk and clumsiness . . . its round, tapered corners that assure you it s always inconspicuous. These very features that make Kotex inconspicuous increase its comfort, too. The shaping, for instance. Kotex really fits ... and you can imagine how much more comfortable this makes a pad.

Light, cool, dainty Kotex is made of Cellucotton absorbent wadding, an amazing substance that absorbs five times more than cotton. Thus, Kotex gives the very greatest protection with the least possible weight, warmth and bulk. This Cellu-cotton is laid in thin, air-cooled layers that prevent packing and chafing . . . and can easily be ad-justed as needs change.

Perhaps the greatest proof of Kotex' superiority is this: 85% of the country's leading hospitals use Kotex filler for surgical dressings. Doctors prefer it for its absorbency, its comfort and purity.

Please read the column of Kotex superiorities at the right. It tells of Kote: deodorization; its easy disposability; and other reasons why millions of women all over the world will use nothing else.

Great Waves Hammer at Sea Walls and Wreck Small Boats in Harbor.

TWO SAVED ON BARGE

Chicago, Oct. 22 (AP.).—Lake Michigan pounded violently at the front door of Chicago today, battering at the sea walls and sweeping over the lakeside boulevards. Small boats in the sheltered harbors were gon broke from its tug and sank after its crew of two, adrift for hours, had Capt. Harry Lord, of Boston, and Capt. Harry Lord, of Boston, and Frederick Harvey, of New York, were aboard the oil barge when it left. Muskegon Monday night in tow of the tug Butterfield. The storm, lashed up by a stiff northeast wind, broke when the ships were in midlake and the towline snapped. Fearing the tug swould founder if it turned broadside of the waves to attempt a rescue, the master pushed on to Chicago and sent Coast Guards to the rescue.

Meanwhile, however, the freighter Charles M. Schwab sighted the drifting barga 15 miles off the Calumet River Bint and picked up the two men, suffering from exposure.

The wind, driving an all-day downpour of rain before it, at times reached a velocity of 50 miles per hour and slapped huge waves over the breakwaters and across the boulevards that line the shore. One lake front hotel was completely surrounded by water, and guests could neither leave nor enter.

Coast Guard men said the lake ick Harvey, of New York, were Coast Guard men said the lake storm was the worst of the year. All day they fought to reinforce the crumbling breakwaters and to save yachts that broke from anchor.

Apartment houses fringing the lake along the north shore were without heat tonight, the waves having swept into the basements and put out fires in the boiler rooms. The situation was made more serious by the breaking of hundreds of windows facing the lashing northeaster.

of hundreds of windows facing the lashing northeaster.

Lake storms have been particularly severe this year, causing heavy damage because of the unusually high level of the lake. Waves have seldom gwept over the lake shore drives in the past, but now, with Lake Michigan brimfull and ready to wash over, the whip of an east wind quickly slaps the waves up over the sea walls into the face of the city.

Winds Force Plane to Rest in Flight From Moscow to New York.

sait Lake City, Oct. 22 (A.P.).—The Russian plane, Land of the Sovieta, on a dight from Moscow to New York City, landed here this afternoon for an overnight stop. It will proceed to-morrow to Cheyenne.

Possibility that the air journey may be continued eastward from New York in an attempted transatiantic flight was indicated by S. A. Shestakov, chief pilot, who said that, while his plane after reaching New York were indefinite, an attempt might be made to cross the Atlantic.

The filers stopped here to refuel their ship instead of continuing, to Cheyenne because heavy head winds on the flight cut their fuel supply. They took on 200 gallons of gasoline and made minor adjustments to the motors, preparatory to a take-off early toncorres.

Trading was at a feverish pace during the first half hour, as shorts hurried to cover, but quieted down as the session wore on, and the day's turnover amounted to only 4,129,820 shares, as contrasted to yesterday's huge volume of 6,091,870. Several of the more mercurial shares sold up 10 shares, as contrasted to yesterday's ihuge volume of 6,091,870. Several of the more mercurial shares sold up, 10 to nearly 30 points. A little more iliquidation cropped out here and there, but for the most part it was readily absorbed. Profit taking came into the market in considerable volume in the last hour, and recessions of 1 to 5 points from the day's best levels were common.

As indicated by the Standard Stalistics Co. Associated Press price indicates the losses suffered in the storm of selling Saturday and yesterday were about half regained. The general price level held around that of last July. Commission houses were inclined to advise their customers to proceed with caution, and to predict a period of irregular and quiet markets.

A statement by Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, and a director of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, to the effect that they decline represented merely a healthy reaction, and that fundamental conditions remained sound, was The utilities, which have suffered most rapid recovery. Anent the New Gas.

Details of the making of the new processed "Standard" gasoline of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, which have been carefully guarded, are made public today. This gasoline is manufactured by forcing heavy oil through a fire box with high-pressure pumps. The oil, heated to a volcanic temperature, passes from the coils to a "soaking drum," in which the "cracking" reaction takes place, and then into other drums, where the heavier oils, kerosenes and the entirely separated from the tars are entirely separated from the gasoline.

The result is an entirely pure, The result is an entirely pure, higher-test gasoline, which may be said at no advance in price because this new process extracts a greater amount of gasoline from the crude oil. The new coils give a higher yield of gasoline stocks than the old, have a much greater capacity, and make possible the manufacture of many intermediate by-products.

New Tests Are Hopeful.

New Tests Are Hopeful.

From a laboratory standpoint it had already been proved that this new-processed gasoline gave six distinct advantages to mesor cars. The proving cars at the Standard testing grounds had been running on this gasoline for moaths, but it was decided not to sell this new-processed gasoline to the public until performance reports came in from actual users. These reports were good.

According to Dr. R. T. Baslam, manager of the development department of the Standard Development Co., a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, this new-processed gasoline gives quicker, starting, faster pick-up, smoother power, all the advantages of high-test gasoline, with its attendant less shifting of gears and less knocking-on hills. All in ell, it is a modern power fuel, made by the most up to date methods yet, possible.

The Port of New York Authority New York-New Jersey Interstate Bridge 41/2% Gold Bonds Series B

Dated November 1, 1929

Due as Shown Below

Redeemable at the Option of the Port of New York Authority at 105% and Interest on Any Interest Payment Date, On or After November 1, 1939, Upon Four Weeks' Notice. If Less Than All of the Bonds Outstanding at Any Given Time Shall Be Called for Redemption They Shall Be Called in the Inverse Order of Their Maturity. Coupon Bonds in the Denomination of $1,080 each, Registerable as to Principal Only or Both Principal and Interest. Principal and Semiannual Interest "May 1 and Nov. 1" Payable in United States Gold Coin at the National City Bank of New York.

Legal investments by statutes of the States of New York and New Jersey for all public officers and bodies in the respective States, and their municipal sub-division, and for insurance companies and associations, savings banks, savings institutions, savings and loan associations, executors, administrators, guardians, trustees and all other fiduciaries.

These bonds are direct and general obligations of the Port of New York Authority and, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by first lien or charge upon revenues and tolls arising out of the use of the bridge. This is the second installment of an authorized issue of $60,000,000 for the purpose of constructing a bridge across the Hudson River from 179th Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, being that part of the Borough of Manhattan known as Fort Washington" on the New York Side to the Borough of Fort Lee on the New Jersey side. The States of New York and New Jersey are advancing jointly the sum of $10,-000,000, payable in five equal annual installments, which began in 1927, toward the construction of the bridge. By the terms of the acts authorizing these advances, repayments are specifically subordinated to the obligations of the Port Authority on these bonds.

The Port of New York Authority is obligated under statutes of the States of New York and New Jersey and by the terms of the resolutions authorizing these bonds to establish and maintain adequate tolls and charges for the payment of interest and principal and payments to the reserve funds, and charges for operation and maintenance of the bridge, and the performance of this duty may be compelled by any court of competent jurisdiction upon ap-plication of any bond holder. The States of New York and New Jersey have contracted that they will not limit or alter the right and obligation of the Port Authority to establish and maintain adequate tolls and charges for such purposes, and this contract by the terms of the bonds and of the acts authorizing issuance has become a contract between said States and the holders of the bonds.

Construction of the bridge is seven months ahead of schedule, 40% of the work having been completed to date and well within the estimated cost.

The War Department of the United States has approved the plans and issued its permit for the construction of the bridge.

We offer these bonds if, as and when issued and received by us. Legality of this issue will be approved by Julius Henry Cohen, general counsel for The Port of New York Authority, and by Thomson, Wood & Hoffman, counsel for the purchasers. Copies of these opinions will be furnished upon request. Delivery will be made in the form of interim certificates of The Port of New York Authority, in about two weeks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (A.P.).—The boys are waiting on the doorstep of the New York Athletic Commission for Santa Claus to appear out of season bearing a bagful of nice new championship crowns. Scarcely pausing for rest after the decisive victory over Joe Sekyra in Madison Square Garden last night, the henchman of Maxie Rosenbloom, toughest man in the light-heavy-weight division to lick, stormed the doors of the commission this morning seeking recognition for the New York veteran. The solons told Maxie to come back again some time, but back again some time, but to debate the problem of se-

AUREL RACE TRACK, Md., Oct.
22.—A quick return on his $75 investment was netted by T. H.
Bosley today when Tony The Clown, a three-year-old gelding, ran third in the second race and earned $150 of the purse.

For Bosley bought Tony The Clown this morning from C. Way. The price was not exorbitant in view of the gelding's past performances. In fact, there was some doubt that the $75 there was some doubt that the $75 price tag did not constitute profiteering. Tony The Clown had run three races in his career. SUN BEAU BEATS LATIVICH A HEAD IN 2-HORSE RACE

720 Favorite Hard Pressed In Feature

Lativich in Display of Courage; Pair Race as Team.

Mud Causes Many to Be Scratched; Ned O. Wins Third.

Special to The Washington Post,

Special to The Washington Post.

AUREL RACE TRACK, Md., Oct. 22.—Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Beau, who has been winning with a regularity that must be pleasing to his owner, added the Continental Purse to the list of victories he has scored in the last month when he beat Bayard Swope's Lativich in today's feature race at Laurel. Sun Beau, heavily played went to the post a 7-to-20 favorite.

The pair furnished a spectacular contest. They raced like a team the entire-trip, with Lativich leading the first quarter. Going to the half-nile pole. Sun Beau passed the Swope racer and he remained in front the balance of the journey. At the furlong pole Sun Beau was inclined to bear out and Coltiletti struck him across the head with his whip a couple of times to straighten him out. Rose was driving Lativich to the limit and the imported colt was hanging on like the good, game colt nging on like the good, game colt hanging on like the good, game colt he is.

At the finish Coltiletti was forced to rouse Sun Beau up, and as they flashed past the judges a head separated the pair Sun Beau was worked out 1½ miles and he covered the distance in 2:10 2-5. This was part of his preparation for the $25,000 Washington Handicap, to be run Saturday. Today's victory marked the fourth straight for Sun Beau.

Heavy rains, which fell during the night and all morning, turned the wack into a sea of slop. The change in the footing was responsible for numerous withdrawals and small fields ruled during the afternoon.

Wide Turn in Stretch Costs

Wide Turn in Stretch Costs Fire Belle Purse.

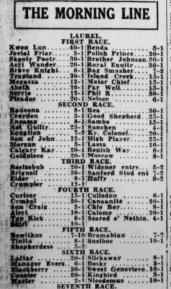

Laurel, famous for its nose finishes, found another hair line decision when the official placing made the Audley Farm's Associate a winner over Fire Belle in the running of the first race. Fire Belle broke none too well, but in the run down the back stretch McTaggert rushed her through next to the rail and at the half mile pole she led her field. In the run around the far turn, she raced Paddock into submission but entering the home stretch, McTaggert made a wide turn. Higgins came through next the rail with Associate at this stage and at the furlong pole appeared to be head in front pid Fire Belle. The latter, responding gamely to a drive, made a desperate effort to pass Associate, but the latter hung on long enough to get the decision. As the race was run, Fire Belle was best and, had McTaggert come down on the inside instead of going wide, the Jones filly would have won.

Bay Beauty made an exhibition of this company in the second race. He was in with about as poor a lot of maidens as could be gathered together and went to the post a favorite. Legare had the mount and when the start came the Bradley colt broke in fourth position. Before they had gone a furlong he was out in front with a lead of a length and a half and Legare was sitting still. For the remainder of the trip Bay Beauty appeared to be only galloping. He kept increasing his advantage until he had a lead of eight lengths over Legand, who beat Tony the Clown three lengths for the place. The latter was sold in the paddock this afternoon for $75. Bay Beauty was worked out a mile. He went the seven furlongs in 1:28 and the mile in 1:42-5.

Ned O. Comes Back With Victory in Third.

Ned O came back with another winning effort when he won the third race, a dash of 6 furlongs. There were seven starters and Jim Dandy was made the favorite. The latter raced prominently to the head of the home stretch, then faded out of the picture and at the finish beat only two horses. Snappy Snub and Colossal. Mint Olga, breaking rapidly, was the one to make the pace. She drew away in the run down the back stretch and led Ned O. by a length at the half-mile pole. Rounding the far turn, Mint Olga increased her advantage to three lengths and as they swung into the home stretch she made a wide turn. Ned O came through on the inside at this point and when Quattlebaum went to a drive he responded in a courageous manner. Gradually gaining on the pacemaker, Ned O was on even terms with Mint Olga 50 yards from the finishing mark and from there to the end he held the race safe.

Passing the judges, Ned O had an advantage of a neck over Mint Olga and then followed Sweet Sentiment, beaten of seven lengths for the place. Coltilett made a claim of foul against the winner, which was not allowed. In the last sixteenth both bore over to the outside. It looked as if Ned O followed Mint Olga out and evidently the judges were of this opinion, for the placing was allowed to stand as the horses finished.

Coaches Meet Today to Set Date for Business Clash.

Central, Tech Pilots Hope for Drying Weather.

ORGED to cancel their game be-cause of the rain which, although not actually failing at game time, had had sufficient start to make the Central Stadium resemble a swimming pool rather than a gridiron yesterday, Coaches Lynn Woodworth and Dan Ahern, of Business and Western, respectively, had been unable to come to an agreement on a future date for playing off the game last night.

A meeting has been arranged for this-morning between Principal Davis and Coach Woodworth, of Business and Dr. Newton and Coach

With the flunkers forced out of action for the time being, only fitteen men are now sitting on the Western bench.

And although Woodworth, too, might benefit by an increased number of eligibles, it is thought that his present squad stands a much better chance of upsetting Western than it would have when facing the Western Team with its added strength, inasmuch as the Business ineligibles are not sufficiently strong to turn the

For the Tech Team it will be a wonderful chance to almost virtually assure itself of the 1929 title, as as with both Eastern and Central out of the way, only Western and Business will stand in its path. If they get the verdict in the Friday clash, only a miracle would keep the Hardelmen from their second successive triumph, as neither of the other teams even can hope to upset the Maroon and Gray Eleven.

On the other hand, Central can, by defeating the Manual Trainers, keep the race interesting while almost leaving the award of the title to the last game of the series—the Central-Eastern game. Pinehurst, N. C., Oct. 22 (A.P.)—
Miss Helen Waring, links star, who won important tournaments in Pinehurst last season, today followed an example set by Miss Joyce Wethered. British player, and entered competition on the links with men players.
Among those to tee off in the October tournament here, Miss Waring qualified in the fourth flight.—She had an excellent round of 93 on the No. 1 women's course and then proceeded to eliminate two men players, beating Robert M. Page, of Apex, N. C., 4 and 3. and Dr. H. E. Bowman, of Boston, 2 and 1.
Howard Phillips of New York, was medalist with a 74, and other men stars had rounds in the 70s. The tournament is a preliminary to the autumn event which starts on November 4, inaugurating the scheduled tournament season here.
Quarter finals results in the championship flight of the October tournaments: H. D. Phillips, New York, defeated Irving Johnson, Sacco, Me. 3 and 2; P. L. dupont, Pinehurst, defeated W. J. Penn State to Meet

Special to The Washington Post.

State College, Pa., Oct. 22.—With a defeat at the hands of New York University last Saturday already forgotten. Penn State is going about preparation for its next game, that with Lafayette here Saturday, in the hope of reversing the verdict. While the Lions are disappointed in the results of last week's game, they are not allowing the fact that the season's record has been blemished to affect their play in the coming game.
On the whole, the showing of the Lions against the Violets was a distinct improvement over earlier games.
While Penn State is expected to react with a stronger game this week, Lafayette also may be classed as a "rebounding" team. The Leopards were downed late in the game after they apparently had a safe lead. The touchdown from a break resulted in a Bucknell victory last Saturday which probably will put the Maroon on fighting edge.

The game will be a home coming attraction for thousands of Penn State alumin! A play-by-play account will be broadcast over WPSC, the college radio station.

Emerson on Edge

For Eastern.

Coach H. P. Sanborn was to send his Emerson Eleven through its last workout today in preparation for his gaine with Eastern High tomorrow at the Lincoln Park Stadium. Boasting an impressive array of experienced players, the prep school coach is highly confident of defeating Coach Kelley's men tomorrow, thus stepping into the front line of scholastic elevens of the District.

And although his team looked good in life first, two games, Kelley sees little chance of his men breaking their two-game losing streak tomorrow. The Emerson Eleven looks far stronger than the Tech team which decisively trimmed the Easterners, 14-2.

Over Virginia.

Byrd has had little fault to find with the line, and if he finally can get a satisfactory back field combination, the Old Liners will be tough for any team to lick. And Byrd would just as soon start the ball rolling against V. M. I., if he can.

The Flying Cadets of V. M. I. are still in the ascendency and their high hopes of emerging again with the Virginia football title which they won last year were enhanced last Saturday by a smashing 14-0 victory over the powerful University of Virginia Eleven. In Al Hawkins, hardarunning half back, and McCray, best of the punters in this section, the Cadets offer two of the outstanding offensive threats in the South.

NORTHERNS PLAY AGAIN.
The Northern gridmen will drill tonight and Thursday on the Silver Spring Field, at 7:30 o'clock, in preparation for their game with the Lansdowne Eleven in Baltimore Sunday. It will be the second game in succession that the Northerns have played in the Monumental City, having dropped a 7-to-2 decision to the Irvington Team last Sunday.

ASHINGTON'S women golfers have reason to be proud of their record yesterday. With a heavy rainstorm sweeping the course, it is remarkable that of the 55 women players who were paired in the first round of the women's championship in the Middle Atlantic Golf Associa on the Columbia course, only five defaulted and in more than one case the weather was not the deterring factor. Pitty of the competitors were out at the club at the appointed time and braved a storm of wind and rain to play their matches.

Tennessee on Grid at Roanoke.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 22.—Despite an epidemic of twisted anskles and bruises resulting from the West Virginia clash last Saturday and from stiff scrimmages today. Coach Eugene Oberst continued work whipping his Washington and Lee grid machine into shape for the General-Volunteer clash in Roanoke Saturday.

To match the speedy and shifty Volunteer backs, the General mentor will put on the field in Roanoke Saturday one or two of the most versatile back fields to wear the Blue and White in recent years. Washington and Lee, playing its first game in the Magic City in nearly fifteen years, will be out to show Virginia grid fans their version of, the open, running attack which features the Rockne style of play, adopted in the General camp with the coming of Coach Oberst this year.

Week-end injuries were an important factor in Washington and Lee's 26-to-7 defeat at Knoxville last fall, but should not worroy General supporters Saturday. Williams, track star and magnet for passes, probably will hold down one wing, with Bledsoe or Cocke on the other. Both Williams and Bledsoe showed real defensive ability against Kentucky and West Virginia and should considerably cramp the style of McEver, Hackman and other Tennessee runners. Also it was Williams who started the riot at Raleigh when the Generals piled up 27 points in the third quarter to steal the North Carolina State game. The lanky end catches passes from seemingly impossible places.

Mattox, Thibodeau, Faulkner and others of W. and L.'s flashy back field will be out to match strides with the touted Volunteer runners and should help to show Virginia fans a real football game Saturday.

The Sloux City lad, making his first appearance before a home crowd in recent months, battered his Texas rival with left jabs and hooks during the first round and then knocked him over the ropes a few seconds after the second round opened. It was a terrific left hook.

ON VIRGINIA GRIDIRONS

(By The Associated Press.)

THE mighty-Capt. Bausermann, of William and Mary, looked like an entire line in the game with V. P. I. Used part of the time in the back field and part of the time as a roving linesman, Bausermann in the istter proved equal to stopping any and all members of the Gobbler back field. He also accounted for the two extra points from kick after goal two extra points from kick after goal

Bill Thomas, Virginia half, proved himself one of the greatest ball carriers in Virginia by his play in the V. M. I. game, aided by Faulconer and Kaminer. Thomas was the man who carried the ball past the goal line for the Cavaliers' single touchdown after a succession of criss-cross plays.

At ashland Saturday, Bryant, Randolph-Macon quarter, demonstrated ability at both passing and running as well as doing a good job as field general. He threw a 30 and a 35 yard pass, each of which was followed by a tally, and breaking through the entire Bridgewater team he dashed 55 yards or another touchdown.

Throwing away his helmet in the early part of the game. Capt. Al Hawkins, sturdy Cadet quarter back, showed his Cavaller opponents that he was not only capable of running the team, but of personally running the ball. He got away for several long dashes and his unhelmeted bean was to be seen bobbing up in the hot spot

Maryland registered a 13-to-6 win over Gallaudet as the preliminary for it engagement with V. M. I. in Richmond. Saturday, this week. The Marylanders are reported to have a team which may be a match even for the Cadets, who have lost but once—to Florida. Bill Scott, William and Mary half bill Scott. William and Mary half back, not satisfied with scoring one of the Indians' touchdowns, made possible another and generally showed his triple-threat tricks, which have earned for him the reputation of being a back without peer in the Virginia Conference.

The mighty Mitt Owens, V. P. I's mountainous full back, let the attack, assisted by Spear and Tomko, in restablishing the Gobbler's preeminence over the William and Mary Indians. The big full back went through guard for the tally which overbalanced the Indians' lead in the closing period.

VA. DRILLING FOR SAINT JOHNS

Coach Seeks Capable Quarter for Game aSturday.

CHARLOTTSVILLE. Va., Oct. 22.—
Virginia's grid squad isn't expecting any easy atternoon with St. John's on Lambeth Field next Saturday. In fact the coming contest will probably be just the reverse of a day of rest. The Cavaliers are having to let down after the contest with V. M. I. During November the charges of Coach Abel will have to meet Maryland, Virginia Foly, Washington and Lee and North Carolina, one after the other.

Coach 'Abel will probably have a reorganized attack ready for the Annapolis team that held Rutgers to a scant touchdown victory last Saturday. And every effort will be made to have the defense tighter than was the case against either Swarthmore or Virginia Military Institute.

The line is still causing the Virginia coaches to worry. In fact, the weaknesses in the forward wall were in a large measure responsible for the defeat at the hands of the Cadets as well as for the scare by the Little Quakers a week earlier.

Who Will Run Cavaliers

Who Will Run Cavaliers

sig Question.

Who will run the Virginia team in the game with St. John's, is a question that Coach Abel must answer during the next few days of training for the reception of the Annapolis team.

Hunter Faulconer, veteran half back, had the job thrust upon him in an emergency during the V. M. I. contest. He handled the situation like a seasoned field general, in spite of the fact that it was his first experience in serving as quarter back. or the fact that it was his hist ex-perience in serving as quarter back. Because of his success against the Cadets, it seems likely that he may continue to fill the vacancy created while Capt. Sloan is recovering from an injury sustained in the Swarth-an injury sustained in the Swarth-more contest.

Billy Moncure, who started call-ing signals in the V. M. I. contest, went the way that many others have gone before him. Of the men who are good at ball carrying and other back field play, all too few can run the team without slowing down them-selves.

Coach Seeks Player Experienced As Quarter Back.
Fear that this may happen to Faulconer in later contests, is making Coach Abel look about for some one Coach Abel look about for some one who has had quarter back experience.

And it may come about that either Frank Sippley of Seegar Gravatt may start against St. John's. Both of these men have been understudies to Capt. Sloan in practice.

INVESTMENTS By CHARLES W. STORM

S. L.—I shall appreciate your advice as to the advisability of purchasing the following stocks: Graregard to speculation and investment financial and earnings conditions? Graham-Paige stock amounted to 47 common shares then outstanding. A not, why?

Answer-If you were to buy either of the stocks named you would not be investing, but merely speculating or gambling. Neither one has any claim to the title investment. Minhave been made in that line. This column rarely, if ever, advises putting money into this class of securities, unless the company is an old established one with a record of earnings and dividend payments over a term of years that warrants its stock being included in the general class of investment securities. There is no evidence that either of these companies is entitled to such classification. Why not adhere to stocks that are listed on some reputable exchange, having a ready market at all times, and on which frequent statement of earnings, etc. are available?

Three Stocks Analyzed.

W. D. W .- I own 50 shares Crosle Radio, purchased outright at 90% $50 Pennsylvania R. R. bought on margin common bought on margin at 921/4 is your opinion of these stocks?
From a speculative, quick turnover viewpoint, what chance is there for price appreciation? I am in them for profit for price appreciation primarily; not for the income side of it.

primarily; not for the income side of it.

Answer—This column can not render an opinion as to the possibilities of quick speculative market turns, as it is not its practice or purpose to predict future movements in any stock. Crosley Radio, on which dividends of $1$ in cash and $4$ per cent in stock are now being paid, is well-regarded for long-term holding, especially as outlook for increased sales and profits is at present very encouraging. Pennsylvania R. R., at present paying $4$ in annual dividends, with the possibilitity of an increase later on, is very highly regarded from an investment viewpoint, while at the same time possessing speculative potentialities. Missour! Pacific common, on which no dividend has ever been paid by the present company, can not be regarded as other than a speculation, though as such the issue is well thought of, especially for the long pull. Earnings are steadily increasing and for the quarter ended March 31, last, there was earned for the common $1.61$ per share against $0.84$ in the same period last year.

Loft Inc., Highly Speculative.

A. V. P.—Kindly advise me as to the prospects of Loft Inc. The report of their series of Loft inc. The report of their series months of 1929 showed a good increase over the same period of 1928. A recent announcement in The Post, stated that they had a contract with a large chain of stores to sell their goods exclusively. Do you consider it advisable to sell at this time, or do you think that the outlook should call for an increase in price?

Answer—Although a slight increase in earnings has been noted in the mear past, the highly competitive condition of the industry and the unfavorable condition within this company marks the stock as highly sneulative and not extend the stock as highly and not extend the stock as h

W. D. S.—Will you please give me information as to the following: What is meant by Fox Theaters A; who is back of the stock; what is the par value; is this stock related in any way to Fox Films; would you consider it a good investment?

Answer—Fox Theaters A indicates ethe stock of Fox Theaters Corporation. Capital stock is of two classes. It A and B. both non par and ranking alike except that "B" has exclusive twoting power. Fox Films and this company are separately organized and operated but controlled by the same interests. With Loew's incorporated, this forms the largest amusement enterprise in the world. On the basis of excellent earnings and tremendous expansion program, the stock while speculative appears to have exceptional long term possibilities.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS OF VISCERA AWAITED

X-Ray Plates Also Remain to Be Examined; Expected by End of Week.

The formal report on the second autopsy performed a week ago on the body of Mrs. Virginia Hurley Mc-Pherson, at Kannapolis, N. C., by James I. Bullitt, professor pathology at the University of North Carolina, was received yesterday by the Department of Justice. This report confirmed statements, made the time of the autopsy, that no skull fracture, broken neck, illegal operation or other possible cause of death was discovered other than the effect of the pajama cord that was wrapped tightly about Mrs. McPherson's throat when her body was discovered on the bedroom floor of her Park Lane apart-

These conclusions are not yet final, These conclusions are not yet final, however; the Federal operatives are still waiting for reports on the chemical analysis being made of Mrs. McPherson's viscera by Dr. Bullitt, and on the disclosures which may be made in a set of X-ray photographs which were taken of all parts of the body at the time of the second autopsy.

body at the time of the second autopsy.

Neither of these reports now is expected until the end of this week, and possibly later. What they may reveal is entirely unknown in Washington at this time. The purpose of the chemical analysis is to determine whether there were any traces of drugs or poison in Mrs. McPherson's body, while if there were any signs of violence that might have been overlooked by the physicians who examined the body, it is probable that they would be revealed in the X-ray pictures.

The Federal investigators will make The Federal investigators will make no recommendations whatever in their report, it was said yesterday. They will merely state the facts as they have found them. Meanwhile, the Justice agents are continuing their work of rounding up additional information pertinent to the case. Practically all of this work is now being done outside the offices of the Bureau of Investigation; agents are busy in various sections in the East, interviewing witnesses, some of whom are proving of little or no value in the investigation, while others are understood to have contributed extremely important investigation ment. Discharging a fierce onslaught of wind and rain, they tore the roof off a humble citizen's store, blew a barge that has remained in stolid retirement on the banks of the Anacostan River for the last 10 years, up the river and sent it reeling to the bottom of the Potomac off Crampton. That wasn't all. Trees were uprooted in the northeast section, Potomac Park was converted into a miniature lake, small yachts anchored in the channel were endangered and lights were blown from their poles at intersections. The wind reached a speed of 38 miles an hour, and a total of 1.055 inches of rain fell.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IS JURY'S VERDICT IN DREYFUS INQUIRY

New Yorker Absolved of Blame in Killing of Woman by Fall.

PAST LIFE OF COUPLE REVEALED AT INQUEST

Sisters Tell of Threats; Man Describes Scene on Balcony.

Mrs. Aurelia Fisher Dreyfus, attractive 29-year-old divorcee, came to her death as the result of an accidental 20-foot fall from a balcony at the Potomac Boat Club early Sunday morning, a coroner's jury decided yesterday at an inquest in the District Morgue.

The verdict exonerated Edmund J. McBrian. 30, a New York broker, who escorted Mrs. Dreyfus to a dance at the boat club. The broker, an intimate friend of the divorcee for more than six years, had been in the custody of police since Sunday.

Two hours were consumed before the jury retired for deliberation. Sensational testimony dealing with the past lives of Mrs. Dreyfus and McBrian was given the jurors by Miss Freda Fisher and Mrs. Elsa Knorr, sisters of the divorcee.
